Play Reading Evening—Tuesday 4th August

We're hosting a play reading evening on Tuesday 4th August in the upstairs room of The Pigot from 7.30pm. It will be a fun, informal evening for all those who fancy reading parts just for fun, so please do come along.

All are welcome—members, friends and family and any potential new members—invite your friends and make it a night out!

Got a part you've always fancied reading, no matter how far fetched? Bring it along! We will be bringing scripts but everyone is welcome to bring any scripts that they fancy trying, or old favourites that they'd like to bring back to life! We hope to see you all there.

Any questions, please contact Sue Hay. Email : susan.l.hay@btinternet.com

Newhampton Arts Festival—Friday 24th July

We are taking part in an amateur and community theatre festival at Newhampton Arts Centre at 7pm on Friday 24th July. Sue Hay and her cast will be reprising the 'Deckchairs' comedies in a double bill with Studio 61 who present the atmospheric drama, 'But Yesterday.'

Tickets are £5 and available from www.ticketsource.co.uk/newhamptonartscentre

Any questions, please contact Sue Hay. Email : susan.l.hay@btinternet.com

1956—2016

Next year we will celebrate our 60th Anniversary and we intend to do so in style!

We're working on some ideas, but the committee would love to know if you have any thoughts on how to celebrate. It doesn't have to be one big event so if you've got any ideas—large or small—please do let us know.

Finally, many congratulations to our member, Ness Tobin on her recent Ordination at Lichfield Cathedral. We wish Ness all the best for her future challenges, and look forward to continuing to welcome her, Ed and Cara to Pattingham as often as time allows.
